III. New Student Registration Process

Congratulations on your admission to the Taipei Medical University! The first day of classes of the Fall Semester 2026 starts on Monday, September 7th, 2026.

New Students must complete registration within the scheduled dates. All rules and information regarding academic and student affairs not only are announced on the official website, but also sent emails registered under your student ID number (student ID number@tmu.edu.tw), such as course selection, credits transfer/waiver, transcript, leave policy and scholarship. Please check your inbox and official website on a regular basis so that you do not miss any important notifications.

In the future, Graduate students will have to apply for the thesis/dissertation defense that shall be subject to the following guidelines: (1) Students must successfully complete the course “Research Ethics” before applying thesis/dissertation defense, (2) Students must fulfill all the required courses and credits as specified by the relevant regulations of their department, institute, or program. Students can check their progress in credits and requirements by accessing the Academic & Student Affairs Information System. Please refer to “Taipei Medical University Enforcement Rules for the Master's and Doctoral Degree Examinations” as well as the specific rules and regulations regarding degree requirements for your program, institute, or department. If you have any questions related to graduation requirements and the rules of your department, kindly contact the administrative advisor or secretary of your department.

V. Course Credit Transfer/ Waiver

【Notes】

1. Only applicable to credits earned from courses completed before admission to TMU.
2. Course Credit Transfer/Waiver applications must be completed before the deadline in the academic year of admission. Late application will not be accepted.
If students wish apply for suspension in this semester of admission, they must complete credit transfer/waiver process before the suspension. Application will not be accepted after resumption. Students who fail to complete applications in accordance with relevant preceding regulations, thus affecting their rights, shall be held liable for the consequences that such actions may cause.
3. Courses taken after admission, including those where students have received grades or from which courses they have withdrawn, are not eligible for Course Credit Transfer/Waiver.
4. If a department or program approves the transfer of any TMU course credits to match a course (or combined courses) from the previous school, that course from the previous school will no longer be eligible for transfer again.
5. If the credits applied for transfer were included in the graduation requirements for the student's previous degree, the transfer shall not be approved; however, the student may be waived from taking a course with the same title with the approval of the department, program, or other relevant academic units. In such cases, the credit must be made up by taking courses assigned by the department or program.
